The Santa Paula Police Memorial was the scene of a third dedication Saturday that brought together public safety personnel, elected officials and members of the public for the unveiling of the latest tier of bricks honoring those that served — and still serve — the SPPD.

The ceremony was held at Railroad Plaza Park at the SPPD Memorial, an obelisk paying homage to two officers — City Marshal Henry Norman and Officer James Barmore — that died in the line of duty. The two were killed 40 years apart, Norman gunned down in 1913 and Barmore killed in a 1953 motorcycle accident while responding to call.

First dedicated May 21, 2011 to coincide with National Police Memorial Day, last May the monument was rededicated with benches honoring Officer Kim Hemminger and Reserve Officer David Bartlett, both killed in 2012 in separate off-duty traffic accidents.

Mayor Martin Hernandez, City Councilwoman Ginger Gherardi, Police Chief Steve McLean, former Police Chief Stephen MacKinnon — who was involved in the creation of the memorial — and City Manager Jaime Fontes were among those that attended the rededication as was Sharon Hemminger, mother of Kim.

According to SPPD Reserve Lt. Brad Tallent who worked closed with retired SPPD Lt. Carlos Juarez on the updates, “We’re here to celebrate the improvements,” and addition of the third tier, “Followed by coffee and donuts,” traditionally considered the fuel of law enforcement.

After the prayer led by Deacon Al Guilin, Hernandez addressed the crowd.

“Santa Paula is a place that has many cultural assets,” said Hernandez who thanked the original committee that oversaw the creation of the memorial.

“This monument means a lot...we all need heroes,” and with the number of unprovoked fatal attacks on officers, Hernandez said police must be shown support. “We need hope, we need heroes our first responders are our heroes.”

Monuments and memorials, Hernandez added, are important benchmarks for society: “I’m very proud my father is on the Farmworkers Memorial,” located in the same park.

In his 35 year law enforcement career, McLean said he saw 33 officers “lose their lives, almost one every year.”

Officers are now being “ambushed and murdered” with recent incidents in Dallas, New Orleans and Las Vegas, tragedies that brought a groundswell of support for police.

“We had the community come to the SPPD bringing cakes and flowers, a senior citizen asked if

Ventura Party Boat pulling into Pirate Park at Moonlight at the Ranch!

By Peggy Kelly
Santa Paula Times

You’ll be yelling “Ahoy mateys!” and climbing aboard the Ventura Party Boat, the most notorious pirate ship in the Seven Seas at the September 10th Moonlight at the Ranch X!

You’ll Party Like a Pirate at this annual fundraiser for the Santa Paula Police & Fire Foundation, Ventura County’s signature event held each year at historic Limoneira Ranch.

You’ll find to err is human but to “Arrrrgh!” is divine at this adults’ only celebration of swashbuckling where you’ll “Hoist up yer mains” and let fly yer jib because every pirate does his god-fearin’ best to get three sheets to the wind” for sailing purposes only of course!

Don’t be horn swaggled: landlubbers are also invited to partake in Pirate partying with grog, booty, raffles, a Silent Auction, tastings from fine restaurants, no host bars, dancing to Sound Effect band and DJ Bruce Barrios and a night of pillaring and plundering with every wench and scallywag that sails the ocean blue.

Guests will say “Blow me down!” when they arrive at Limoneira’s Pirate Park for the first portion of the evening where from 5:30 to 7 p.m. dead men will tell no tales and buccaneers will vie to show how well they can Talk Like a Pirate.

In this special competition the winner will have booty to take home while the losers might just risk walking the plank of the Ventura Party Boat (VPB), a special added attraction that will put the wind in everybody’s sails.

The authentic VPB is an attraction with a cause created by owners Scott and Judy Robinson to bring awareness to Down Syndrome (DS).

“It’s wasn’t a planned business,” said Scott of his 25-foot-long ship that has sailed into many a party and special event.

“We were fortunate to have a son, Reese, born with Down Syndrome 11 years ago and we were exposed to how special that life is. Judy especially got very involved,” in causes and issues related to DS, a genetic disorder typically associated with physical growth delays, characteristic facial features, and mild to moderate intellectual disability.

Three years ago the couple decided to adopt another DS child and found then 3-year-old Ryan in an orphanage in Bulgaria, a challenging and sad existence for even the hardest child.

The boys are the reason for the VPB, to raise awareness of Down Syndrome and in Ryan’s case, help pay off the hefty adoption and travel costs.

“Why a pirate ship? I do a lot of rough carpentry and I used to tell my neighbors,” in his Ventura neighborhood that he would build a ship for Halloween.

“One year” said Scott, “I did,” a 25-foot-long pirate ship façade that was attached to the house to provide a ramp for Trick or Treaters to leave the porch.

“It grew from there to what it is now...”

Scott likes being the captain of his own ship, which can be customized no matter what the occasion.

But he knows that a pirate boat is particularly popular.

Why?

“That’s a good question. One of the biggest things is pirates have a life of freedom out on the seas, taking what you want, living without everyday hassles. I don’t know for sure but people are really fascinated by pirates.”

And fascinated by his boat, which has made appearances from San Francisco to Anaheim and beyond for kid and adult birthday parties, parades and corporate events.

Scott is promising bigger and better things for Moonlight at the Ranch X: Party Like a Pirate.

“I’m excited! I’m going to go all out and bring everything for it and try to make it a great event as much as I can.”

He is in the midst of improvements and embellishments to make his boat shipshape and more authentic, picking out the accessories that will finish the seafaring picture of scallywags and their wenchies — even female pirates — out of a good time.

Scott is hoping people will enjoy his boat, but “I always want to make sure that people get the message about Down Syndrome. They should take a chance,” and adopt a DS child.

“It’s amazing how positive the influence our two boys have had on our community and the people they come in touch with.”

At the September 10th Moonlight, lads and lassies will yell “Ahoy mateys!” and batten down the hatches at 7 p.m. to set sail from Pirate Park to Treasure Island —

Limoneira’s historic headquarters — where the feasting is free with booth after booth of tastings from the region’s finest restaurants. No host bars will feature special grog and there will be plenty of food and drink to keep guests shipshape.

Bring your doubloons for the Silent Auction offering fabulous items to bid on and raffles where me hearties will have an array of prizes to choose from.

Skulls and crossbones will be out on the dance floor to dance the night away to the tunes of Sound Effect

Storm Trooper tells Rotarians 'How Star Wars Saves the World'

By Peggy Kelly
Santa Paula Times

The "Force" was with Rotary when they met a Star Wars Storm Trooper in an epic battle of fun at a recent meeting when club members learned about a unique organization where the bad guys do good.

The presentation by attorney Doug Ridley of the Star Wars 501st Legion on "How Star Wars Saves the World" started on a personal note: "I'll never forget being in the drive-in with my parents...Star Wars was a mind-blowing experience and I've been a fan all my life."

Noted Ridley, "Some fans are content to collect action figures... other fans want to be action figures!" And, as an adult, "I found a support group of like-minded people who do great things."

Alvin Johnson founded the 501st Legion in 1996 when he put together a detailed costume for the much-heralded rerelease of Star Wars. Thereafter the Legion became known as "The World's Definitive Imperial Star Wars Costuming Organization."

"One Storm Trooper is creepy but more are a legion," and, said Ridley, a "Force" to be reckoned with.

The organization is now international and Ridley belongs to the Channel Islands Squad. Star Wars creator George Lucas often calls upon members to make

"May the Force be with you!" Rotary President Carlos Juarez poses with Storm Trooper Doug Ridley who told the club "How Star Wars Saves the World" through charitable activities.

Summit School has openings for fall 2016

* Summit School is accepting students in grades transitional kindergarten through 6th grade. This free, public school offers an exceptional education in a beautiful rural setting. It has about 45 students.

* School starts Aug. 24.

* Amazing, gifted teachers.

* Solid academic instruction, music, art, outdoor garden curriculum.

* Affordable, enriching before-school care starts at 7 a.m. After-school care is provided until 5:30 p.m.

personal appearances at Comic Cons, premieres and special events, such as the 2007 Tournament of Roses Parade when Legion members accompanied Grand Marshal Lucas.

According to the organization's website, "The Southern California Garrison is a charity-focused costuming group led by volunteers, who will aid in the success of regional charitable events, community-based events, and public appearances while having fun and celebrating the continuation of the Star Wars universe. Our costumes are so professional that you will believe we have stepped off of the movie screen into your event."

"Building a costume," said Ridley, "is like building a high-end car...there's an online costume reference library," and there are only 150 members around the world that have the very latest costume used in the newest Star Wars franchise film.

There's a fan system inside the costume as well as a microphone for voice projection.

Ridley said there's nothing like the feeling of building your own detailed costume replica of a classic Star Wars villain such as a Storm Trooper, then "bringing them to life in the real world" to share the magic with others.

Before the Rotary meeting and in full costume, Ridley said he turned the corner onto the patio of Flight 126 Café and startled a little boy.

But, he noted, "I don't think it was as bad as it could have been... it was only one Storm Trooper," and the boy soon enjoyed the encounter.

The 501st Legion Southern California Garrison covers Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura, Riverside, San Bernardino, Kern, Santa Barbara, and San Luis Obispo counties. Members include teachers, business professionals, police officers, and more.

The 501st as well as the Channel Island Squad make personal appearances, but "Not as a show at weddings or birthdays...we are 'Bad Guys Who Do Good' by volunteering," to be an attraction at a variety of charitable events ranging from Hope's Haven Children's Charity of Ventura County, dedicated to enriching the lives of children facing life-threatening illness or serious injuries to Big Brothers Big Sisters.

Volunteers involved in the 501st Legion have given 62,000 hours, helped raise $587,000 and received more than 21,000 toys as well as canned food to help the needy.

They visit Children's Hospital Los Angeles as well as other regional children's hospitals and have created a student anti-bullying campaign—The Heart of the Force — among other numerous causes supported by the group.

"To me," said Ridley, "that's the best stuff I can do."

After offering more information about the unique organization Ridley bid farewell to Rotarians noting, "May the Force be with you!"

Memorial:

she could hug me..."

McLean thanked former Police Chief MacKinnon for his work in helping to establish the monument noting "Thank you sir, and thank you Brad and Carlos," for their continued efforts to keep the memorial updated.

"This obviously has become a passion," for Tallent and Juarez, and McLean also noted Hemminger and her sacrifice.

McLean also recognized longtime Citizens Patrol volunteer and veteran Kenny Zimmet for his service to country.

Juarez, who served on the original SPPD Memorial committee along with Commander Ish Cordero, told how the monument came to be after a "Ghost Walk" story called "Weird Coincidences" addressed the death of Officer Barmore.

His widow Betty Barmore contacted Mary Alice Orcutt Henderson, who oversaw the Santa Paula Theater Center fundraiser, asking why she had not been consulted.

"Mary Alice called Nils Rueckert" and the committee was formed to create the memorial, dedicated May 21, 2011 after a year of fundraising including the sale of bricks for SPPD personnel that helped fund the obelisk.

"Today we celebrate the third threshold" on the west side of monument park.

"Since the park was completed we lost two officers," Bartlett and Hemminger who are the focus of memorial benches and plaques facing the monument.

Juarez noted that brick orders kept coming in up until last week and no doubt more bricks will be installed in the future especially as bricks are now available to Explorers, Citizens Patrol and volunteers.

"Citizens Patrol was founded in 1994 by Debbie and Don Johnson," and Huguette and David Johnson and Juarez noted Debbie and Don have their bricks "side-by-side forever..."

Zimmet, he added, also has a Citizens Patrol brick.

The memorial, said Juarez, "Would not have happened if not for Nils...when I began as President of Rotary he embarrassed me and said I had raised the money, but after he went to Chief MacKinnon," about creating the monument they worked closely together.

"For 14 months Nils and I talked all the time...so much that he said he talked to me more during that time than he did to his wife Beverly!"

After discussions with MacKinnon and Cordero, "We all agreed that Nils," chairman of the monument effort should have a brick noting his contribution and time spent.

The brick said Juarez, "Is a surprise...I hope and pray we never add more names on plaques to the memorial," of officers killed in the line of duty, "but that we continue to add bricks to the threshold," of past and present SPPD personnel, office staff and volunteers.

Cordero thanked Juarez and others for their efforts on behalf of the memorial and noted, "I am honored and proud to have my brick next to my father, he was my hero."

It’s all over Wednesday: Council’s Tovas out, SPUSD a candidate magnet

By Peggy Kelly
Santa Paula Times
City Councilman Jim Tovas had been telling people he would not seek a third term on the council and he proved that when he declined to return nomination papers for a third term by Friday’s deadline. Nominations for the seat will be open until the final deadline, Wednesday, August 17 at 5 p.m. In other political news the Santa Paula Unified School District Board has become a candidate magnet with two more people signaling interest. Political newcomers Micah Chapman and Clint Garman filed nomination forms, as did Fred Robinson, a former councilman and mayor who was defeated for his second council term four years ago. Catherine

Carter has pulled nomination papers. Mayor Martin Hernandez was the first to file in a bid for a second term on the five-member council. The five members of the City Council serve four-year terms and are compensated with a $300 monthly stipend as well as more than $1,000 each month that can be used for the city’s cafeteria health plan, private insurance or pocketed. Blanco, running for City Clerk, a position now held by Judy Rice, filed her nomination papers and remains the only candidate, although more could file by the extended deadline. City Treasurer Sandy Easley also filed but her potential opponent, newcomer Rod Baltazar, did not meaning hers will be the only name on the ballot. The race for three seats COUNCIL: Continued on Page 10

After growing up in war torn Lebanon, SPPD Officer Raad finds SP quieter

By Peggy Kelly
Santa Paula Times

After spending his first 15 years in war torn Beirut, Lebanon, SPPD Officer Ramsey Raad is glad to be in "quieter Santa Paula."

And the Rotary Club of Santa Paula was glad to welcome Raad as the inaugural guest of its new program to show its support of public safety by inviting police and fire each month to a lunch meeting as a way of getting to know them.

The SPPD Officer of the Year, Officer Raad, a native of Lebanon, attended the August 1 meeting at Flight 126 Café at Santa Paula Airport where Rotarians, including President Carlos Juarez, a retired SPPD Lt, greeted him.

The Rotary Club of Santa Paula has started a new program to show its support of public safety by inviting police and fire each month to a lunch meeting as a means of getting to know them. into Crime Scene Investigation.

While with the Ventura Police Department, Raad met SPPD Senior Officer Canine Handler Allen Macias who urged him to consider joining the Santa Paula Police Department.

Raad joined the SPPD force a year ago: "It's been a great experience, Santa Paula is a great city," said Raad.

In response to questions from Rotarians, Raad noted he has a body camera — "A great thing!" — worn while on duty other than gatherings such as the Rotary meeting.

Mace, the aerosol tear gas dissolved in hydrocarbon solvents used for self defense, is strong enough when sprayed in the face to act as a credible deterrent and incapacitate a person.

But, Raad said he does not like Mace as it "Affects officers as well..."

Raad showed the Trauma Pack he carries to Rotarians.

Married for 11 years with two daughters, Raad noted "It's great going home to them everyday, and I want to keep doing that."

SPHS quarterback Keshawn Mata wants to keep playing after senior year

Quarterback Keshawn Mata (center) will rely heavily on his offensive line, anchored by seniors Jose Solis (left) and Edgar Cisneros.

By Rich Romine
Santa Paula Times

Santa Paula High quarterback Keshawn Mata wants to keep playing after his senior year.

“I want to pursue a football career in college,” he said.

Dixie State, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Redlands have shown interest in the Cardinals team leader.

“He’s a natural born leader,” said Danny Guzman, the Santa Paula athletic director.

Football coach Mike Montoya has watched Mata since his freshman year,

“He’s the undisputed leader of the team.”

Mata has been an inspiration to all who know him.

He was five years old.

“I had an accident by the pool,” he said.

“It kept swelling,” Mata said. “No I didn’t know because I was young.”

He had three surgeries before his amputation.

“At first I was walking and running and got use to it. It made me a stronger as a person and a player,” said Mata.

“He works hard and earned everything,” said Guzman.

During a 21-day dead period, Mata paid his dues in the weight room.

“He has never ever complained,” said Guzman. “He has always been positive.”

Mata, 5-foot-9, 160 pounds, was called up from the junior varsity team for a CIF playoff game as a freshman.

“I didn’t play,” he said. “It was good to watch.”

As a sophomore Mata threw two touchdown passes to Noah Magana against Grace Brethren.

He also had a 70-yard game saving run at Malibu.

Mata was in eighth grade when he got his first shot as quarterback in youth football.

“I started off as an offensive lineman, wide receiver and linebacker.

“I’ve grown into the position,” Mata said as quarterback. “I love it.

“I feel a lot stronger and I’m in my best shape.”

Mata and the Cardinals enjoyed defeating long-time rival Fillmore.

“The toughest games,” he said “were competing against Grace Brethren and Saddleback Valley Christian.”

The Cardinals are ready to open the 2016 season.

“We’re senior heavy this year,” said Mata. “We should have a good run.

When he’s in the classroom, history is his favorite subject.

“He wants to study criminal justice,” he said of college.

“I want to become a police officer,” said Mata.

Back to this season, Mata will be throwing the football to Timmy Luna, Freddie Lopez, Robert Reyes and Adan Castro.

Edgar Cisneros, Jose Solis, Josh Tovias and Moi Para will be anchoring the offensive line.

Mata has several goals for the season.

“I want to improve on my reads and be a better quarterback.

“I need to finish games.”

Mata will play in an Aug. 19 scrimmage at Oak Park and then will open the season Aug. 26 with a home game at Jones Field against Channel Islands.

Since Mata’s freshman year, he has worked with a quarterback coach Hayden McClain, a 2012 Santa Paula graduate.

Last season, Mata completed 40 of 94 passes for 788 yards with five touchdowns and six interceptions. He rushed 19 times for 237 yards and six TDs.

As a junior, he rushed six times for 83 yards.

In the last three seasons, the Cardinals have compiled a 16-17 record, going 6-5 in 2014.

And Mata has seen his teammates evolve.

“We’re a lot bigger and stronger. We’re smarter this year.”

Mata has had a successful summer training and working out.

His family is cheering for him

His brother Dante, 13, qualified for the Junior Olympics in track at Houston.

Santa Paula’s Miranda Magana will be a junior this season for the Quininiac University softball team at Hamden, Conn.

Miranda Magana third baseman for Quininiac University

By Rich Romine
Santa Paula Times

Santa Paula’s Miranda Magana will return as a junior starting third baseman for the Quininiac University softball team in Hamden, Conn.

She had a walk-off double in Game 1 against Iona, a 3-2 victory. Magana drove in the final two runs and singled in another run.

She batted .282 in 50 games with 46 hits and 15 RBIs. Her Bobcats team went 28-29 overall and 11-9 in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference.

Magana made the 2015 All-MAAC Rookie Team.

As a sophomore she batted .282 with 15 RBIs and played in 49 games.

Her freshman season she had 28 hits, 18 RBIs, 17 runs scored and batted .279.

“I played travel softball in Irvine,” she said of her senior year.

She was playing for Bownet when Quininiac discovered Magana in Orange County.

The health science major said her university team is a rebuilding program.

The 20-year-old came into the program as an impact player.

“Contributing to the team, I came in as a starting third baseman, but I had to fight for my position,” said Magana.

Her goals for the 2017 season, are making first team all-conference and making the NCAA Softball Tournament.

She leaves for Connecticut on Aug. 24.

Santa Paula High football coach Mike Montoya has been an inspiration to the 5-foot-5 athlete.

“He has opened my eyes with some serious training pushes,” she said.

“I’ve been doing weight training and agility,” she said.

Montoya also hit her a lot of ground balls at the softball field.

Magana was a pitcher for the Santa Paula Cardinals softball team/

She had a 1.85 earned run average, winning nine games and pitching in 111 innings in 2014.

As a junior, she batted .519 with 40 hits and 32 RBIs.

As a sophomore, she batted .514 with 38 hits, 22 RBIs and 28 runs scored.

She batted .318 as a freshman with 21 hits, 23 RBIs and 16 runs.

Magana played two years of varsity basketball, scoring 232 career points and pulling down 201 rebounds as sophomore and freshman.

She was the Cardinals team captain, earned All-League and league MVP honors.

Miranda is the daughter of David and Patty Magana.

Miranda’s brother Noah plays college football at the University of Redlands.

Cross Country Tryouts

The Santa Paula High boys and girls cross country teams will have tryouts on Wednesday through Friday on the Santa Paula track.

Tryouts will be at 3 p.m. For those students with questions, they can see coach Michael Torres at Room 517.

Vote for Smart Investment Moves

Mike Kelley
Financial Advisor
FINANCIAL FOCUS

The presidential election is little more than a month away. Like all elections, this one has generated considerable interest, and, as a citizen, you may well be following it closely. But as an investor, how much should you be concerned about the outcome?

Probably not as much as you might think. Historically, the financial markets have done well – and done poorly – under both Democratic and Republican administrations. Also, many factors affecting investment performance have little or nothing to do with the occupant of the White House. Consequently, no one can claim, with any certainty, that one candidate is going to be “better for the markets” than another one.

Still, this isn't to say that any given presidential administration will have no effect at all on investors. For example, a president could propose changes to the laws governing investments, and if Congress passes those laws, investors could be affected.

But in looking at the broader picture, there's not much evidence that a particular president is going to affect the overall return of your investment portfolio. As mentioned above, many factors – corporate earnings, interest rates, foreign affairs, even natural disasters – can and will influence the financial markets. But in evaluating a president's potential effect on your investments, you also need to consider something else: Our political system does not readily accommodate radical restructuring of any kind. So it's difficult for any president to implement huge policy shifts – and that's actually good for the financial markets, which, by their nature, dislike uncertainty, chaos and big changes.

The bottom line? From your viewpoint as an investor, don't worry too much about what happens in November. Instead, follow these investment strategies:

- Stay invested. If you stop investing when the market is down in an effort to cut your losses, you may miss the opportunity to participate in the next rally – and the early stages of a rally are typically when the biggest gains occur.

- Diversify. By spreading your dollars among an array of investments, such as stocks, bonds and other investments, you can help reduce the possibility of your portfolio taking a big hit if a market downturn primarily affected just one type of financial asset. Keep in mind though, that diversification can't guarantee profits or protect against all losses.

- Stay within your risk tolerance. Investing always involves risk, but you'll probably be more successful (and less stressed out) if you don't stray beyond your individual risk tolerance. At the same time, if you invest too conservatively, you might not achieve the growth potential you need to reach your goals. So you will need to strike an appropriate balance.

- Forget about chasing “hot” stocks. Many so-called “experts” encourage people to invest in today's “hot” stocks. But by the time you hear about them, these stocks – if they were ever “hot” to begin with – have probably already cooled off. More importantly, they might not have been suitable for your needs, anyway. In any case, there's really no “short cut” to investment success.

Elections – and even presidents – come and go. But when you “vote” for solid investment moves, you can help yourself make progress toward your financial goals.

VCAA Receives Prestigious Aging Innovations Award

The Ventura County Area Agency on recently received recognition from the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging (n4a) with an Aging Innovations Award, the highest honor presented by n4a to member agencies. The award was given for the Agency's Senior Nutrition Placemats. The VCAA was one of 16 programs nationally to receive honors during the n4a Annual Conference & Tradeshow, July 24-28, 2016, in San Diego.

The 2016 n4a Aging Innovations and Achievement Awards recognizes Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs) and Title VI Native American aging programs that develop and implement cutting-edge approaches to support older adults, people with disabilities and their family caregivers. A part of the criteria for the selection of the honorees was the ease with which other agencies could replicate the program in their communities.

“With the health care landscape continuing to change rapidly, our members are discovering new ways to position themselves in the long-term and health care marketplaces, as well as to strengthen long-standing services, to meet the needs of America's rapidly growing older adult population,” said n4a's Chief Executive Officer Sandy Markwood. “Our members work tirelessly, and with little fanfare in their communities, and this program enables us to shine a well-deserved spotlight on their critical work to support older adults' health, safety, independence and dignity,” Ms. Markwood added.

The 2016 n4a Aging Innovations Awards honored traditional and new strategies in a range of categories including Caregiving, Community Planning & Livable Communities, Elder Abuse Prevention, Healthy Aging, Home & Community-Based Services, Nutrition, Transportation & Mobility and “You Name It!”

The VCAA created the Senior Nutrition Placemats as an educational tool to boost awareness of healthy and affordable food options for low-income older adults. The placemats feature a recipe approved by the VCAA's registered dietitian using ingredients purchased at the “99 Cents Only” stores. Additionally the placemats feature “YOUR PLATE,” which displays the percentage of fruits, grains, vegetables, and protein that an older adult should consume per meal. There are also tips related to exercise, healthy living, and community resources available on each placemat. The placemats are available in English and Spanish and change monthly. Graphic design for the placemats was done by the General Services Agency.

The Ventura County Area Agency on Aging, an agency of the County of Ventura, is the principal agency in Ventura County charged with the responsibility to promote the development and implementation of a comprehensive coordinated system of care that enables older individuals and their caregivers to live in a community-based setting and to advocate for the needs of those 60 years of age and older in the county, providing leadership and promoting citizen involvement in the planning process as well as in the delivery of services.

Council:

on the Blanchard Community Library Board firmed up with incumbents Maureen Coughlin and Linda Spink seeking second terms and newcomer Nancy Nasalroad also filing. Longtime incumbent Beverly Mueller did not pull nomination forms so the deadline for the five-panel board was extended.

The Santa Paula Unified School District has become a candidate magnet with two more newcomers pulling nomination papers, Tom Koff and Nathan Loper.

In all there are 11 potential candidates for the Santa Paula Unified School District Board of Trustees and there could be more: incumbent Diana Ponce-Gomez did not pull nomination papers and will be stepping down.

Also in the race are incumbents Michelle Kolbeck, Kelsey Stewart, Christina "Tina" Urias and Board Chair Chris Wilson.

Newcomers Eddie Arguelles, Jeri Mead, Pamela Thompson, and Derek Luna, have all pulled nomination papers as has Tim Hicks, a veteran of the now defunct Santa Paula Elementary School Board who lost his bid for the unified board. Of the 11 potential candidates, only Arguelles, Koff and Loper have not yet qualified for the ballot according to the Ventura County Elections Division Friday update.

The terms of all SPUHS incumbents are ending at the same time, the result of the unification of the high school and elementary school districts and the board election two years ago. The highest three vote getters in the November 8 election will serve full four-year terms, with the two runner-ups serving two-year terms. Those elected to the short terms will be required to run again in two years for a full four-year term to ensure the board terms are staggered.

Briggs School District, which includes Briggs and Oliveland schools, has two incumbents whose terms are coming to an end, Victoria Jump and Colleen Garmon-Smith. Both have filed and qualified.

Mupu School District has one trustee whose term will be up, Steven Jenkins, who filed nomination papers. There is also one trustee, Jason D. Duque, whose term is expiring on the board of the Santa Clara School District a.k.a. The Little Red Schoolhouse who pulled papers but has not yet filed. The status on their filings was not known Friday.

The Presidential-General Election will be held November 8.
